

THIS ADORABLE PUPPY

CAME FROM RAINBOW,
A PUPPY MILL DOG

In November of 2009, Rainbow was found in a filthy bathtub of a puppy mill with blunt force trauma injuries to her spine that had been inflicted several years ago. The breeders bred her constantly, even though her pregnancies caused her excruciating pain. She was a favorite breeder because, in her paralyzed condition, she could not get away from either the male dogs or her nursing puppies.

RAINBOW TODAY - DIAMOND DACHSHUND RESCUE OF TEXAS

DDRTX (<http://www.ddrtx.org>) took her in and raised thousands of dollars for her treatment. She was on TV numerous times during her recovery and has Facebook fans all over the world!

PLEASE DO NOT BUY PETS FROM A PET STORE

From The Humane Society of the United States:

“Puppy mills are large scale operations that force ‘breeder dogs’ to produce litter after litter to support consumer demand for purebred pets.

These puppies are sold in pet stores or over the Internet, storefronts that mask the suffering, disease, malnutrition, and loneliness of puppy mills. Even the puppies themselves are prone to a variety of illnesses. Some die within days or weeks of purchase.

Most people are unaware that when they buy a purebred puppy they are often supporting a cruel and inhumane industry.

By choosing not to buy your next pet or any pet supplies from retail stores or internet sites that sell live dogs or cats, you are directly helping to end this cycle of cruelty.”

Please visit the Web site and sign the Stop Puppy Mills Pledge

<http://www.humanesociety.org>